

Press release: A book describing voluntary communication by an untrained parrot

After a few weeks at my home, Arielle, a two-pound Blue & Gold macaw christened me “Abba,” a term she invented. She spontaneously applied the word “wet” to puddles on a sidewalk. Her linguistic abilities and her vocabulary, composed of 4000+ variations of words, phrases, and sentences, challenge listeners.

Another Kind of Mind: A Talking Bird Masters English transcribes hundreds of cognitive statements from recordings. In one unprompted message, she independently quoted and attributed speech to a child, "You've got a friend in the bathroom.' Jackson said that!" Arielle’s volunteered words convey her knowledge of language and that she is conscious.

The hardcover book, wrapped in a 4-color jacket, consists of 288 pages including 11 pictures and reference materials, ISBN 978-0-9799698-0-5. The direct price is $24.95 plus $4.95 for shipping and handling in the continental U.S.A.; Florida residents add 7% state sales tax.
